L'Exposé

23 novembre 2022

Des recherches approfondies ont révélé que les décès de joueurs de football/football professionnels dus à des problèmes cardiovasculaires ont doublé tous les trois mois en 2021, le nombre de footballeurs « décédés subitement » en décembre 2021 égalant la moyenne annuelle des 12 années précédentes.

Cela signifie qu'autant de joueurs sont décédés subitement en un mois qu'ils étaient décédés auparavant en moyenne sur 12 mois. Au total, les décès parmi les footballeurs/footballeurs professionnels en 2021 étaient 4 fois supérieurs au taux moyen enregistré entre 2009 et 2020.

Le tableau suivant montre le nombre total de décès lors de matchs de football de la Fifa répertoriés et de décès de matchs de football cardiovasculaires masculins survenus chaque année depuis 2009.

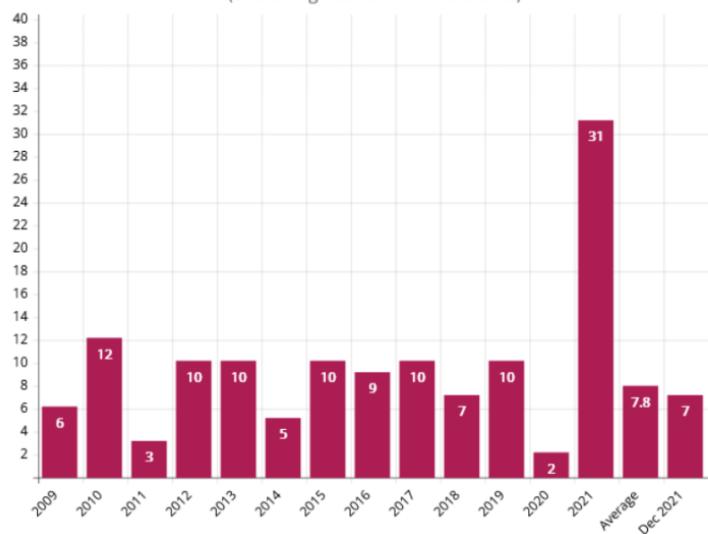

Les données du tableau ont été obtenues à partir des éléments suivants -

Male cardiovascular club player match deaths

(or training deaths in FIFA countries)

All FIFA Professional Football/Soccer Player
Cardiovascular Male Match/Training Deaths
2009 - 2021

Les données montrent que les joueurs de football/football professionnels sont décédés de problèmes cardiovasculaires pendant les matchs (match ou entraînement) à 4 fois le taux moyen enregistré entre 2009 et 2020.

Elles révèlent également qu'il y a eu plus de 15 fois plus de décès dus à des problèmes cardiovasculaires en 2021 qu'il n'y en avait en 2020.

Mais ce qui est le plus préoccupant, c'est qu'il y a eu 3,5 fois plus de décès en décembre 2021 qu'il n'y en a eu sur l'ensemble de 2020, et il y a eu presque autant de décès en décembre 2021 (7) que le taux moyen annuel sur les 12 dernières années (7,8 par an).

FIFA Pro Footballer Deaths per Quarter in 2021

(During or just after Training or Match)

Les décès cardiovasculaires chez les footballeurs professionnels doublent chaque trimestre. Ainsi, fin 2022, ils pourraient être passés à 320 par trimestre (40, 80, 160, 320). Le conseil donné aux footballeurs qui s'effondrent mais qui survivent est de cesser toute activité intense pendant 3 mois. Ces chiffres révèlent que tous les athlètes vaccinés contre le Covid-19 devraient faire la même chose.

Notre enquête sur les données disponibles montre que les décès cardiovasculaires liés aux matchs de football professionnel dans le monde en 2021 étaient 300 % plus élevés que la moyenne sur 12 ans, le nombre de décès survenus en décembre 2021 étant à lui seul égal à la moyenne de 2009-2020.

Les autorités compétentes enquêteront-elles également avant qu'il ne soit trop tard ?
